The replacement cost for a Ford Focus timing belt varies between $400 to $600 on average depending on your year model, where you're located and whether you get it done at a dealership or at a local mechanic. The suggested cost here includes replacement of the timing belt, water pump and tensioner + labor. If other parts are going to be replaced such as the power steering and AC compressor belts, seals and gaskets then the cost may be a little higher.
